Journal of Natural History Museum is a publication of Tribhuvan University, Institute of Science and Technology, Natural History Museum containing original articles which are peer-reviewed.
GUIDELINES FOR AUTHORS

Those considering writing for this journal should study the following guidelines. Manuscript should be submitted electronically as e-mail attachment. Correctly formatted manuscripts will be processed much more quickly than those requiring considerable copy-editing, and submissions deviating significantly from these guidelines will not be considered by the editorial team.

Structure of papers
The name, full postal address and email of the corresponding author should be given on the first page. This will appear in the journal.

Research papers
Research papers should be organized in the following way: Title, Author(s), Author affiliation, Abstract, Keywords, Introduction (including the objectives of the work), Materials and Methods, Results and Discussion (combined), Acknowledgements, and References.

Notes and comments
This section is intended as a forum for two kinds of paper:
- Brief research notes, reporting techniques and findings that are too narrow in scope to justify a larger research report.
- Constructive criticisms of research papers which have recently appeared in the journal or elsewhere.

Papers intended for this section should not normally exceed 1000 words. All papers published in this section will be subject to the same review process as research articles.

Writing style
Papers should be in clear, concise English. Sufficient information on procedures must be supplied to make it possible for experiments to be repeated elsewhere.

References
References should conform to the Harward (name and date) system. When quoting references in the text, give the name of the author(s) and the year of publication, and if there are more than two authors give the name of the first followed by ‘et al.’ References cited together in the text should be arranged chronologically. It is author’s responsibility to check that the references in the text correspond exactly with the list at the end of the paper. Digital photographs and other images should have high quality. The editorial team reserve the right to make minor textual changes that do not alter the author’s meaning.

Thank you for choosing to submit your paper to us. These instructions will ensure we have everything required so your paper can move through peer-review, production and publication smoothly. Please take the time to read and follow them as closely as possible, as doing so will ensure your paper matches the journal's requirements.

EDITORIAL

Our effort to bring out the 30th volume of Journal of Natural History Museum has successfully been launched. It is my pleasure to inform that this journal can also be accessible to our website www.nhmnepal.edu.np. So all the authors who have made valuable contributions to this issue are humbly requested to get their articles through online downloads.

This volume includes many significant articles which can be applicable to the future researchers and for the benefits of the society. Articles on conservation issues have also been entertained in volume 30.

The editorial board of this journal wishes to thank to all the contributors to this issue. Finally, we would like to express our sincere thanks to all the valued reviewers who despite their busy schedules accepted to review papers of this volume. Thank you.
